OFFICERS SEARCH FOR DRIVER OF "MURDER CAR"

EXTENSION OF INJUNCTION CONSIDERED BY CABINET; GOMPERS PLANS ACTIVITY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Extension of the Daugherty injunction so as to bring within its scope all persons who give aid in any form to the 400,000 striking shopmen was discussed by President Harding and his Cabinet today. Broadening of the injunction was urged by one Cabinet member as being necessary to silence members of non-striking unions who have continued to send messages of sympathy to the shopmen ever since the injunction was issued. Sharp differences of opinion prevailed between Cabinet members as to the extent to which the powers of the injunction should be increased. All were agreed, including the President, that caution would be necessary to avoid all undue interference with the rights of free speech and a free press.

GOMPERS ACTIVE
New York, Sept. 5.—A movement for a general strike of the American Federation of Labor in protest against the Daugherty injunction was started here today. Samuel Gompers, President of the Federation, will ask that a resolution be presented at a special meeting to follow a convention in New York to consider a general walk-out. The resolution was drawn up at a secret meeting of labor leaders held here yesterday. The New York Council of the Federation is the largest in the country, having a membership of 800,000 workers. Pledges of various locals of unions here today to aid the striking shop workers and to fight the injunction granted in Chicago to Attorney General Daugherty which prohibits leaders from conducting a strike total thousands of dollars. It was predicted that a hundred thousand dollar war chest will be raised this week.

Three Little Girls Are Auto Accident Victims Since Saturday Evening

Little girl pedestrians were the victims of no less than three accidents over the Labor Day holiday in this locality. In addition to the killing of little Miss Mary Haversock near the borough line here, the following accidents are reported to us by correspondents:

Two Woodland Girls Hit
An Oakland car with license tag No. 528-804 said to have been driven by a Clearfield man named Wilson and traveling toward Clearfield about 11 o'clock Sunday morning while near the H. & C. Ref. Co., Lower Works at Woodland, struck and knocked down two girls Tudy, daughter of Daniel Hull and Iona daughter of Alfred Biggleman, both of Mineal Springs.

The girls were returning home from Sunday School and were walking along on the right side of the road. A car was approaching from Clearfield and it is thought that the driver of the other car was watching it and evidently did not see the girls who were directly in front of his car until he was almost on them. He was running slowly and quickly applied the brakes but both girls were struck and Tudy was in some way doubled up in under the car. Iona was picked up unconscious and carried into a nearby home and a physician summoned who found upon examination that neither girl had any bones broken but both were badly bruised and scratched.

Osceola Child Hit By Car

BABY CLINIC AT EAST END
The Red Cross will conduct a baby clinic at the Spingola Store in the Fourth Ward tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. Every body is invited to bring their babies to this free clinic. Bring baby whether it is well or sick. You will get good advice.

"His Nibs" Will Look On From High Chair While Court Decides Paternity

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 5.—There will be a high chair in court when John P. Tiernan, Professor of Law of Notre Dame University appears today to accuse Harry Pollin of being the father of his wife's child. The high chair will hold "Exhibit A." "Exhibit A" will be the unnamed rosy checked nine months old son of Mrs. Tiernan, whose paternity is in question. It is said, very sad, that we must introduce the unfortunate child as evidence Tiernan said today but I shall have him there in court during every session. Tiernan plans to conduct the examination of Pollin himself. "I will cross examine this man who was my best friend," Tiernan said "I know him like a book."

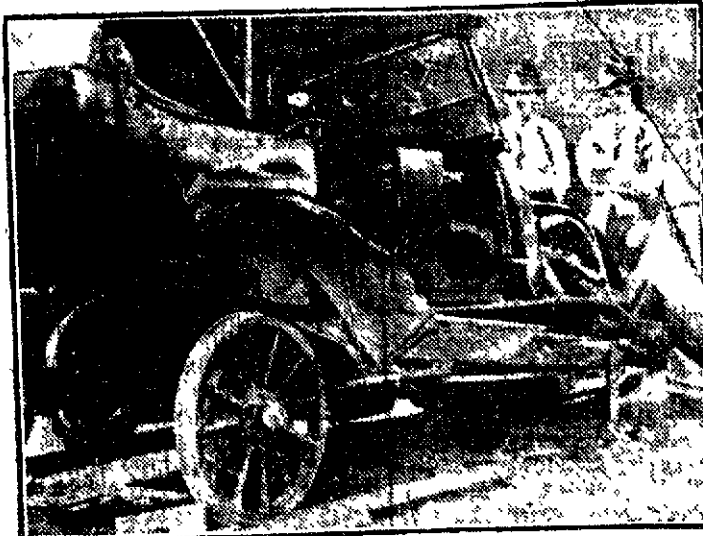

LEAGUE LAUNCHES DISARMAMENT PLAN FOR EVERY NATION

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 5.—The League of Nations today planned to launch a worldwide disarmament program. So strong is the disarmament sentiment among the nations attending the meeting here that these nations will start a non-aggressive policy that will change the scope of the Washington Arms Parley. The new plan will be presented to the League by Lord Robert Cecil and will include a world-wide disarmament plan and a non-aggressive pact. It will give each country a promise of security that will permit a reduction of armament. The plan fixes a military unit of 30,000 and then assigns to each nation the number of units it may maintain. When units are assigned the needs of defense and geographical position will be taken into consideration.

TARIFF WILL TAKE PRECEDENCE OVER THE BONUS MEASURE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—The Bonus Bill will not be reported to Congress by House and Senate conferees until the Tariff Bill is disposed of. Senator Smoot, of Utah, joined with four House conferees in blocking consideration of the Bonus, while Senators McCumber and Walsh reported the motion to displace the Tariff. This means the Tariff will be held continuously before the committee. No effort now can be made to work on the Bonus report until the Tariff is out of the way. The Tariff was held before the committee because of the encouraging speed with which the conferees had proceeded with the measure.

The Morning After

A familiar sight on the state highway any Monday morning or any morning after a holiday. This car was hit at a railroad crossing. Look at it and think that it might have been your last time you crossed at the creek bridge.

Treasury in Fine Shape

The report of the Treasurer showed a total balance of $45,694.95 in the treasury. Following this report Council voted unanimously to retire $15,000 worth of outstanding bonds.

Sewer Assessment Ordinance Passed

Borough Solicitor Urey presented the Ordinances for the assessing against the properties of the cost of construction sanitary sewers on South Fifth street and Ogden avenue, and the same were unanimously adopted.

The Ordinance completing the annexation to the borough of the Clearfield Hospital was also presented and finally passed.

Increased Laborer's Wages

Some discussion of the wage rate for borough employees was had and it was unanimously decided to raise the hourly rate of street employees from 30 cents to 35 cents per hour to keep pace with the other employers of labor about town.

Sewer Work Being Rushed

Chairman Jay of Sewer Committee reported that the Martin and Barclay street sewers had been completed and work would be begun on Orr Run Sewer during this week. This will be an expensive sewer to build on account of its depth.

Want Streets Kept Clean

An Ordinance prohibiting the use of any vehicle or conveyance other than one with a tight bed for the transportation of dirt, coal, ashes, etc., over the streets of Clearfield was unanimously adopted. It prescribes a fine of from $5.00 to $50 for any violation.

JUSTICE CLARK HAS RESIGNED; WILL GO INTO LEAGUE WORK

Harding Announces His Intention To Appoint
Senator Sutherland To
Supreme Court Bench.

THEIR CAREERS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Resignation of Associate Justice John H. Clarke, from the United States Supreme Court and the intention to appoint former Senator George H. Sutherland of Utah to succeed him was announced yesterday by President Harding. Justice Clarke's resignation will become effective September 18, when he reaches the age of 65 years.

A desire to serve his neighbors and some "causes" in ways which would not be possible while he was holding public office was given by Justice Clarke in a letter to the President as the impelling reason for his leaving the bench. A retirement from public life at 65, he added, would conform to his "philosophy of life."

Sutherland's Career

Sutherland is 60 years old. He was born in Buckingham, England, in 1862. He served Utah in the first state senate and was a delegate from that state to each Republican national convention from 1896 to 1920.

Sutherland twice was elected to the United States Senate, his service lasting from 1905 to 1917. He was defeated or re-election in 1916 by Senator King, the present junior member from Utah. Subsequently he was called upon by the present administration in an advisory capacity on several occasions, notably as a member of the advisory committee to the United States delegation to the arms conference. He recently represented the United States in negotiations with Norway dealing with war claims.

Clarke's Career

Justice Clarke was nominated to the supreme court bench by President Wilson in 1916 and in point of service is the junior associate justice. He was a life long Democrat and was associated in politics in Ohio with Tom Johnson and Newton D. Baker, secretary of war under President Wilson. His home is at Youngstown, from where he mailed his resignation. In 1903 he was defeated for the Senate by Marcus A. Hanna. In the campaign for the Democratic nomination

CITIZENRY INCENSED AT COWARDLY ACTION OF THE DRIVER WHO KILLED MARY HAVERSOCK, 16 YEAR OLD GIRL

Court Brings Haversock Killing Before Grand Jury With Instructions To Make Recommendations.

WITNESSES HEARD

When court opened this morning, Judge Bell summoned the Grand Jury before him and officially made known to them the facts of the killing of Miss Mary Haversock by a criminally careless automobile driver, stating that it was the opinion of himself and District Attorney Arnold that the Grand Jury should inquire into this case and make recommendation as to the course of action to be taken in an effort to apprehend the perpetrator of the deed. Judge Bell stated that there were no less than nineteen cases of violations of the motor laws of the State to come before the Grand Jury at this term and it appeared there was a disposition on the part of some people to deliberately violate the automobile laws of the State and it was time steps should be taken to make the highways in Clearfield county safe to travel. That Mary Haversock was of lowly station in life and her parents poor people, but that every assistance should be given in an effort to ferret out and run down the man who would ruthlessly ride down and kill a person and speed away without even offering to help.

Judge Bell then informed the Grand Jury that the District Attorney would present the facts in the case to them and would ask at their hands a recommendation covering the action to be taken in the case.

In pursuance of this investigation, J. D. Connelly of The Progress, Con Allen, B. L. Uncles, Gainer Bloom, Alex Hynd, Ralph Gulich and several other witnesses were called to testify as to their knowledge of the circumstances surrounding the tragedy.

Following the presentation of such facts as the District Attorney could secure, the Grand Jury determined to recommend that a reward of $1,000 be offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the driver of the car. This recommendation was heartily concurred in by Judge Bell and District Attorney Arnold and at once laid before the County Commissioners. The latter gentlemen and County Solicitor Woodward took up the matter and in a few moments took unanimous action toward carrying out the recommendation of the Grand Jury and formally and officially offered a reward of $1,000 for the purpose.

Every resource of the county authorities will be employed to run the murderer to earth, and as these efforts will be augmented by those of the State Police and Clearfield Borough officials, it is hoped the dastard can be run down and made to pay the extreme penalty for his crime.

PURCHASED VALUABLE LOT

The local lodge of Sons of Italy have purchased the lot on Daisy street adjoining the old Douglass hotel property from Thomas W. Barritt and expect to erect a handsome two-story brick building on same, the first floor to be used for business purposes and the upper floor for lodge room and hall.

Mrs. E. A. Markel and daughter Madeline, of Snow Shoe, are spending several days in town with relatives.

$1,000 REWARD IS OFFERED FOR NAME OF CAR DRIVER

MAN HUNT IS ON

Following the summoning of the Grand Jury by Judge Bell for the purpose of placing the murder of Mary Haversock before them and the presentation of the facts at hand surrounding the tragic affair, together with the meagre description of the "murder car" and its occupants by District Attorney Arnold, the Grand Jury very promptly recommended that the County authorities offer a reward of $1,000 for the apprehension of the driver of the car and the murderer of Mary Haversock.

When the recommendation was placed before the County Commissioners that body just as promptly directed that such reward be offered and, before noon today, the County and police authorities of every county in Central Pennsylvania was apprised of that fact and scores of men in every direction took up the man hunt. That they will be successful in their quest is the devout and heart-felt wish in the heart of every person familiar with the circumstances growing out of the wanton killing of this innocent little girl.

Unfortunate Girl Hurled Twenty Feet And Landed In Crumpled
Heap But Cruel Driver
Drove On.

WAS DRIVING FAST

Mary Haversock, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Haversock, of Carbon Mine, was instantly killed between 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock Sunday evening last when struck by a fast-traveling automobile on the Clearfield-Curwensville State road just beyond the Clearfield borough line.

The Haversock girl, with her 14-year-old sister Agnes, and Mary Spisok, all employed as domestics in homes in that vicinity, had walked up the river and were on their return when the little girl's life was snuffed out in the twinkling of an eye and without warning of any kind.

The three girls, walking on the right hand side of the road coming toward town, had reached a point directly opposite the residence of Ralph Gulich.

E. G. Welliver, of Philadelphia, was driving up the river in his car and when nearing the Gulich residence he noticed a big car coming down toward Clearfield at a fast rate of speed. The car was traveling in the middle of the road and on Welliver's sounding his horn, the oncoming driver swerved his car to the right and dashed right into the girls along the side of the road.

Mary Haversock, who was slightly in the rear of her companions, was struck squarely in the back and hurled about 20 feet, landing in the ditch at the side of the road in a heap. Hearing the crash as the car struck their companion, Agnes Haversock called out, "Mary, where are you?" and with that she both heard and saw her sister's body land in a crumpled heap beside the road.

The noise of the impact of the car, against the girl's body and the screams of her companions were heard by Alex Hynd at his residence some distance below the scene of the accident, and by Mr. and Mrs. Gulich and their daughter Catherine May, who were sitting on their rear porch. All hurried to the screaming girls and just as Mr. Hynd reached the terribly bruised and torn body of the innocent victim she breathed her last.

Dr. Ward O. Wilson was summoned by telephone and was quickly on the spot and pronounced the young woman beyond all earthly aid as quick as he saw her.

The body was picked up and placed in a blanket and carried to the Gulich lawn where it remained until taken in charge by Undertaker F. B. Leavy.

When he saw the car strike Miss Haversock, Mr. Welliver, who was traveling up the river, stopped his car and remained for some time, rendering every possible aid, but the driver of the "murder car" made an effort as though to stop but reconsidered and stepping on the gas disappeared rapidly down Second street.

Both Mr. Welliver and Mr. Hynd gave it as their opinion that there were at least four or possibly five people in the car, while Agnes Haversock says she was able to distinguish part of the license number as the car slowed up.

Chief of Police McMullen and Sheriff Lowell were notified of the occurrence and at once got busy in an attempt to locate the murderer. Chief McMullen immediately called the

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

What's the Matter With the Court House—It's Not All Right.

Dear Odds and Ends.—May we tell our little visit in the Court House? Missing by the other morning, it looked so cool and inviting we went through the corridor and up the stairs marvelling at the spotless cleanliness everywhere. Seeing a door on which were the words "Waiting Room for Women Prisoners," we looked in and were surprised at the home-like room with a softly tinted walls, its comfortable upholstered chairs and couch, a polished table with its books and papers, the clean shining windows and tiled floor. Especially lovely is the one oil painting hanging between the windows, the gift of a generous citizen with an understanding heart. It was the room as we saw it that morning, in which the tired, scared women witnesses can rest while sitting the ordeal of the court room. If you doubt us visit your court house and see for yourself.

We also had our first experience of court proceedings this morning, but as, as Kipling says, is another story.

Out of Town Visitor.

The churches of America raised during their last respective fiscal years at least a half billion dollars. Reports from the religious bodies gathered by the Federal Council of Churches and published in its year book of the churches give the exact figures as $488,424,084, but they do not tell the whole story. Owing to the various methods of gathering statistics in the different churches, some of the reports include only part of the amounts raised. Some, for instance report missionary offerings only. In many cases the figures represent a minimum.

Of the total raised, the combined Methodist bodies lead with $130,730,719. The Catholic church is second with $75,368,294. The combined Baptists are third with $60,796,534. The standing of the leading denominations according to the official figures of each is:

Methodist Episcopal No.	$85,934,000
Catholic	75,368,294
Presbyterian (North)	47,036,442
Southern Baptist	34,881,032
Episcopal	34,873,221
Methodist Episcopal So.	33,859,832
United Baptist	21,926,143

Congregationalists 21,233,412

These figures show that each of the 46,242,130 church members of the country gives at least $10 a year to the support of his church and its work.

From the figures available the 1,104,029 members of the Protestant Episcopal church are the most generous of the larger communions, their average gift being $31.50 a year. The 397,058 members of the Presbyterian church in the United States (South) are second with a per capita gift of $30.54. Third place is held by the members of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America (North) with an annual gift of $27.31 each.

The Congregationalists give $25.92 each, while the Northern Methodists give $21.82 each. Other large communions according to the figures available give as follows: Northern Baptists, $17.48; members of the United Lutheran church in America, $14.75; Southern Methodists, $14.43, and Southern Baptists $10.90.

Full returns from some of the churches might change this standing considerably, but these figures are the best available from the facts obtainable.

The per capita gift of the Catholics of the country is $4.21, but that church includes in its membership "Catholic population" and most of the Protestant churches include only communicant members. A fair comparison on a common basis would show Catholics at $11.80 per capita.

Women voters proved a powerful factor in defeating prohibition in the referendum election in Norway, it was shown by tabulation of the ballot.

With twelve districts uncounted, the women's vote stands: For prohibition, 123,315; against prohibition, 182,876. Wet majority, 59,561.

The total vote, with twelve districts missing, was for prohibition, 901,053; against prohibition, 930,655.

"The aeroplane of the future will be at once the most ghastly and sublime machine ever created by the hand of man."

This is the statement of M. Anthony Fokker, the celebrated Dutch aeroplane inventor, who is now in England securing designs and plans which he will use in his work in furthering military and commercial aviation in the United States.

Aeroplane services crossing the Atlantic five or six times a day, and aeroplanes capable of destroying entire cities in a few hours, are the predictions which Fokker makes.

"The aeroplane of the future depends almost entirely on motor and fuel development," Fokker says. "If this continues at the same rate of progress we shall very shortly have completely noiseless machines racing every twenty minutes as regularly as the modern train service in all directions.

"The actual size and speed of the machines will not increase so enormously as the numbers employed. Some 120 miles per hour, with a range of several hundreds of miles, will be the standard model for commercial purposes during the next ten years.

LAD FALLS FROM AUTOMOBILE

William, little son of Mr. and Mrs. George Root, fell from an automobile near his home at Dimeling on Saturday last and was quite painfully cut and bruised about his head and face. Dr. Shivery, of Woodland, fixed him up and he is now getting along finely.

Why Vaccination Pays.
Statistics show that to vaccinate a person against smallpox at public expense costs about twenty-five cents, while the disease itself costs the public on an average about $50 per case.

L. Jacobs, in the presence of a company of friends. Mr. and Mrs. H. P. White attended them as best man and matron of honor respectively. A wedding breakfast was served to the entire bridal party and their invited friends in the home of H. P. White, 217 E. Cherry street. Mr. and Mrs.

PATROLMAN STUMBLES

OVER BODY IN SACK

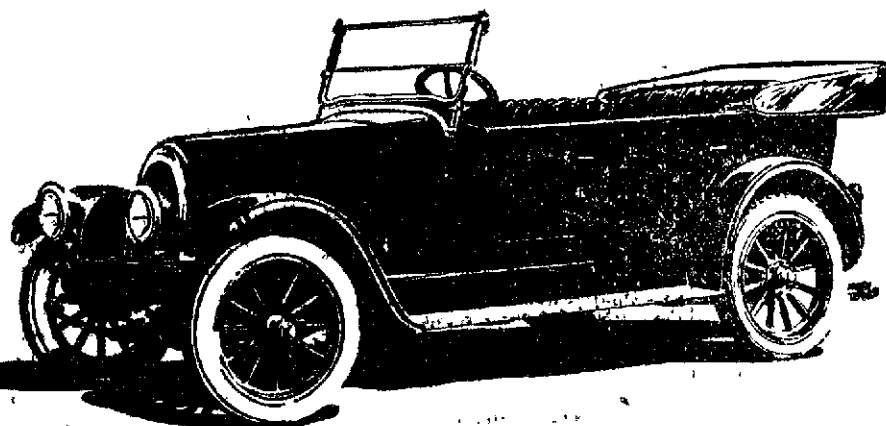

New York, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Brooklyn's "bloody block" was the scene of another mysterious tragedy early today. Patrolman Edward Conners, walking his beat, stumbled over a huddled mass on the sidewalk which was not visible in the darkness. Upon investigation he found the body of a man who was later identified as Con Melitte, tied up in a bed quilt with a .30-calibre bullet wound squarely between his shoulder blades.

As predicted not more than three weeks ago, another very serious accident has occurred on the state highway near here and we cannot help but believe that had the suggestions made by The Progress at that time been carried out, little Mary Overlock would today have been the carefree, happy girl she was instead of being cut off from all that life holds for an American youth.

It is now the proper thing to offer the one thousand dollars reward for the coward who would run away leaving a little girl bleeding and dying along the public road. No matter what his liability for the accident, had he stopped to render first aid and made a clean breast of the unfortunate affair, he could be given the consideration due a repentant wrongdoer. As it stands he has had ample time to come forward and acknowledge his wrong and has no right to ask for mercy.

The question to be decided now though, is whether we shall wait for another such outrage before taking those simple steps which will cut reckless driving down to a minimum. The observance of three practices will suffice to make our highways safe to travel on.

When walking on the public highway, keep on the left hand side. You are then facing the traffic and when you turn off the road you are in no danger of being struck from the rear.

When driving on the public highway use every precaution, do not exceed the legal rate of speed and make it your business to report to the county authorities any driver who is visibly intoxicated.

Urge that every party to an accident be required to appear before the district attorney in order that the blame may be placed in every instance. This, and this only, will cut down the accidents which have made our state highway from Philipsburg to Curwensville as dangerous as "No Man's Land."

ARE WOMEN NEEDED?

Women have been voting nationally for nearly three years. They have participated in the election of the President and the Congress and have shown keen interest in the lesser but still important contests for local offices in their immediate communities.

Just what benefits have been derived by the government as a result of practically doubling the nation's electorate?

Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, vice chairman of the Republican National Executive Committee, who has worked with both men and women in public affairs for many years, summed up the effect of women in politics when she said:

"The new woman voter is carrying out her political convictions with the same kind of courage with which the female protects her young. She knows what is right in her own soul and does not easily change her standards."

"Women are primarily interested and are deeply concerned in the effect which politics has on the future manhood and womanhood of this country."

"Women are interested in the conservation of life. They care for the things which affect their homes and their children."

Mrs. Upton voices the thoughts of men and women who have intelligently studied the results of women's participation in government.

Women carry the thought of what is best for the homes of the nation with them when they go to the polls. Consequently they are proving that they are a humanizing factor in politics.

THE ROMAN OF 1813

It was Commodore Perry who sent the thrilling message after the Battle of Lake Erie: "We have met the enemy and they are ours." The pulse of every true American beats faster at these words. For Perry's victory, against great odds, was one of the bravest and most remarkable exploits in naval history.

The battle took place on September 19th, 1813. But we must remember that not all the heroic work was done upon that day. As with so many historical events, examples of less striking devotion have been passed by, overshadowed by the greater event.

So it is fitting today to call attention to the career of Peter Navarre. A pioneer and scout born of French parents in Detroit, he it was who took the orders from General Harrison to Perry which precipitated the Battle of Lake Erie.

His task was difficult and called forth all the craft and hardhood of the true woodsman. Navarre knew the Indian well, and the British had set a price of a thousand dollars on his head. This did not daunt him. Ordered to deliver the message at a spot some eighty miles from General Harrison's camp, he set forth. The peril from the enemy was increased by a storm which broke over his head. Running by night, shyly slipping from tree to tree in the daytime, he delivered the message.

A salute, the passage of an oilskin package from one hand to another, and Peter Navarre plunged again into the woods. It was his hand that later was to slay Tecumseh, the great Indian chief. Yet the old scout never was given proper reward by his government. He was content. He had had the opportunity to serve and save America, and that was enough for him. Peter Navarre died in poverty not many years ago, at the age of eighty-nine. One event shone forth in his memory to the last—he had delivered the message.

FOR HIM WHO WORKS

Jim Harbord, attending Kansas State Agricultural College, failed to win an appointment to West Point, so he made his way out to Spokane and enlisted in the Fourth Infantry. Private Harbord of 1889 is Major-General Harbord of 1922, and is to be chief of staff when General Pershing goes to inactive duty in another year.

His military career has been a distinguished one, filled with hard work. When he enlisted he studied his job, availed himself of the military colleges, won staff appointments, served here, there and everywhere in whatever capacity offered, but always went steadily up until he is now ready to step to the top rung of the ladder, the most enviable position in the American Army active list.

Inasmuch as popular conception gives the favored promotion in the armed services to West Point and Annapolis graduates this is a healthy thing for the country. Jim Harbords are conspicuous in other walks of American activity; opportunity usually comes from hard work and ninety per centum of the successful business men of your acquaintance made their own way from the bottom. That is the American tradition. Harbord carries it into the Army, with its pride of tradition, and shows the way to American boyhood. For him who works and uses his head reward in this land is limitless.

WISCONSIN PASSES ON LA FOLLETTE'S WAR RECORD TODAY

Witwaukee, Wis., Sept. 5.—Wisconsin Republicans passed judgement today on the war record of Senator Robert M. La Follette in the state primary. The voters will give their decision in the bitter battle waged by William Ganfield chiefly on the question of the Badger Senator's opposition to the war. Two complete Republican tickets were in the field. La Follette was opposed by John J. Blaine, who is a candidate for renomination. Ganfield, a college president had William J. Morgan, State Attorney General, as a running mate for the gubernatorial nomination.

ANNOUNCING A NEW NASH "SIX" FIVE PASSENGER SEDAN

Simultaneously with the opening of the Fall closed car season the Nash Motors Company announces a five-passenger six-cylinder sedan. The new model is being shipped to distributors and dealers as rapidly as production will permit.

"The new five-passenger six-cylinder sedan was produced in response to a widespread demand on the part of Nash dealers and the buying public for a car of this type," said C. B. Voorhis, vice-president and director of sales of The Nash Motors Company. "With this addition the Nash line now includes thirteen models, each meeting separate and distinct requirements. In the six-cylinder car line are now three enclosed cars—the new five-passenger sedan, the seven-passenger sedan, and the four-passenger coupe, while the four cylinder line includes four enclosed body types—the five-passenger sedan, the five-passenger car, three-passenger coupe, and two-passenger cab."

The new six sedan for five passengers is built on the Nash 121-inch wheelbase chassis; its design and appearance are in keeping with that good taste which distinguishes all models of The Nash Motors Company. The car is hung low on a strong enduring chassis, yet with ample road clearance, and with its wonderful easy riding springs, it rides as buoyantly on country highways and crowded roads as in service about town.

The famous Nash Perfected-Valve-In-Head Motor is a guarantor of its faithful and continuous performance. Its mohair interior furnishing and upholstery is of the same choice quality used in the most expensive cars. Its four doors are wide and its seats are unusually comfortable.

Public demand which inspired the production of the new Nash Six five-passenger sedan is the direct result of the added comfort which an enclosed car affords the owner in all seasons. A few years ago the enclosed car was looked on as a luxury to be indulged in only by those who could afford two cars—one for winter and one for summer. Within the past few years, however, the enclosed type of car has become so widely accepted that increased production on the part of the manufacturer has made possible a narrow margin between the price of the open and closed vehicle.

In response to public demand the manufacturers also have made refinements in outward appearance and in the matter of comfort so that today the enclosed car offers the most in comfort as well as in economy to the buyer.

Pennsy Will Be Asked To Explain Why Men Were Put In Danger

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 5.—Coroner W. J. McGregor and late and county officials today visited the ruins of the Thirtieth Street Round House of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which was destroyed by fire early Sunday, causing seven deaths. McGregor directed the Pennsylvania Railroad to produce the man whose duty it was to inspect buildings used in housing employees. McGregor said he learned that highly inflammable materials had been stored in the building where the men slept. The inquest is scheduled to be held Friday.

PLAN GREATER JUNIOR CHAUTAUQUA ACTIVITIES DURING NEXT SEASON

With popular interest in all phases of child training at its height because of the opening of the schools throughout the nation this week, the Chautauqua Managers' Association of America and Canada has just announced, through its appointed committee Dr. Paul M. Pearson of Swarthmore, Pa., Mr. A. C. Coit, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mr. Loring Whitehead of New Haven, Conn., a notable plan for a National Junior Chautauqua Organization.

Junior Chautauqua work has grown to such an extent that the various Chautauqua managers, who, as a part of their Chautauqua service during the past decade have been bringing supervised play and elementary training in social service and civic government to the children of "Main Street" have secured the services of an Advisory Committee of four of the best known authorities in the country on young people's development, to coordinate the work into a national unit and map out a comprehensive plan for a period of years. This Advisory Committee consists of:

Dr. Omer R. Lovejoy, General Secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, Washington, D. C.
Dr. S. Josephine Baker, Director Bureau Child Hygiene, Department of Health, New York City.
Dr. Elbert K. Protwell, Professor of Recreation, Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City.

O. H. Benson, Director Junior Achievement Bureau, Eastern States League, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

The Junior Chautauqua enrollment now numbers 1,000,000 boys and girls between the ages of six and fourteen. Its activities are conducted in connection with the regular Chautauqua program now held in 9,000 towns in every state in the United States, and reaching 10,000,000 people annually.

The Junior Chautauqua activities are especially planned for the children of the smaller towns and cities. The week's Junior program includes games, stories, and pageantry under the direction of a trained leader. It is a "recreational oasis" in the child life of the town. The Junior citizens are organized into a miniature municipality and elect their Mayor, Town Clerk and Law Making Commissioners. During the week the activities of "Junior Town" are directed in a Chautauqua manner by the duly elect officials. As a part of their "Junior community" work the small citizens carry out in each town some kind of community service. Swimming pool funds are started, hospital beds endowed, poor children helped. But the training in service is the main objective.

The Directors of the children's work in the various Chautauqua systems of the country, met recently in Chicago and organized the National Association of Junior Chautauqua Directors. Miss Ida M. Joseph of the Ellison-White Chautauqua of Portland, Oregon was chosen President, and Miss Mary L. Flynn, of the Swarthmore Chautauqua, Swarthmore, Pa., was elected Secretary. At this meeting it was decided to use on Chautauqua circuits, the prize pageant "Conquests of Peace." The author of the winning pageant is Miss Mabel Wain, a Senior in Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa.

Dr. Paul M. Pearson, Chairman of the Managers' Committee on the National Junior Chautauqua, and also President of the International League and Chautauqua Association, voices the importance which the Chautauqua managers attach to this educational and recreational work with the children of the smaller communities by saying: "Chautauqua managers consider no phase of their work more important than the work with the children. This new plan for a National Junior Chautauqua Organization is a permanent investment in the town, which will make all work more enduring and which, if properly directed and handled, bids fair to take its place as one of the potent present-day factors in the proper direction of the physical, mental and social activities of our young people."

Already one of the most widely used songs in schools, playgrounds and community centers is the "Town Song" written especially for Junior Chautauqua. Its refrain runs: I am proud of my town, I am proud of my town, and this is the heart of the message which the National Director of Junior Chautauqua who is to be appointed for 1923, will carry to the Chautauqua towns. No longer are statesmen to be merely "burnt," here is a definite attempt to "make" them.

with the officers and committee dispatched autos for the American Legion Band of Joshua Earl Super Post No. 505 of Curwensville, Pa., of 30 pieces and had them quickly on the ground. At 1:30 p. m. they gave the large crowd a fine musical program.

Meeting was called to order by Pres. Alex Rowles, who announced the opening prayer by Rev. Hauser speakers was as follows: Hon. Singleton Bell, W. I. Betts, J. Frank Snyder, A. R. Chase, Rev. A. Roy Hauser, who came from his vacation in Maryland to be present; Rev. Swank of New Milford; Joseph E. Phillips, who gave some reminiscences of old Rowles settlers; W. A. Hagerly also told of the old stock of early settlers and John M. Chase. The speaking was interspersed with selections from the band.

Officers and committee held meeting, choosing officers and committee for reunion of Sept. 1st 1923, as follows:

Pres. A. M. Rowles; Vice Pres. McClellan Rowles; Sec., C. L. V. Rowles Treas., Job Rowles; Executive Committee: P. S. Rowles, John M. Bauman, James M. Rowles, Aaron B. Rowles, E. Price Rowles. Total collections amounted to about $65.00. Expenses $60.

At 4 p. m. the band gave another concert which was appreciated by the large crowd present, which by this time was taxing the grove to hold the crowd. At 5:15 supper was announced for the band who enjoyed the good things prepared for them. At 6 p. m. the band was returned to their homes by autos, provided for them by Alex, Job, Howard, E. Price and Eli Rowles M. L. Farrell and Paul Shaffner.

Everybody voted it a good old fashioned reunion and hoped to be with us at next year's Reunion. A good many were disappointed at the absence of Col. Fred Kerr, who was detained at Harrisburg. The two oldest Rowles in attendance were Sarah Ann Rowles, 87 years; Matthew Rowles, 78 years.

We hope to see you all present at our Annual Reunion on Saturday, Sept. 1st, 1923.

Doctors and Drugs. A large number of physicians are themselves addicted to the use of morphine. This is no wonder, considering the strenuous life they lead, and the fact that they are continually handling the drug. Conscientious physicians have for some time past refused to administer it, but then, what was the use, while there were so many others willing to do so?

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

Curwensville's football squad has secured the services of James Black, of Olanta as coach. He is conversant with all of the cuts and ins of the game, and as the members of the squad are apt pupils and practicing every evening when the weather permits, will soon be in shape for games with teams from neighboring towns.

The call for a ladies' meeting at the Red Cross rooms last Friday evening for the purpose of organizing a Civic Club was not attended as it should have been. The few who did gather were deeply interested in movement of this kind and are not at all discouraged because there was not a good turnout. Another call has been sent out for a meeting to be held on the 11th inst., at which time it is to be hoped that enough ladies will be present to effect a permanent organization and elect the necessary officers.

Frank Hailey and wife, Ridge avenue, went to Warren, O., the latter part of last week to visit with relatives and old time Curwensville acquaintances who are located in that city, returned home on Monday.

Mrs. Alton Robacker, a life-long resident of Penfield, is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stiver near the tannery.

An employee of the Pennsylvania Hide and Leather Company informed the correspondent Monday that a raise of wages had been granted to the employees of that plant. The advance runs from 85 cents and down in proportion to the work the men are engaged in. Owing to the shortage of men since the mines started up the output at this industry has been cut down almost one half, but just as soon as a sufficient number of men can be secured to fill the jobs made vacant by those who quit to go else where, the output will be again run up to the number of sides as before.

Misses Ray Hile and Lester Whitaker and the Misses Annie Johnston and Pearl Rafferty made a motor trip to Penns Cave last Sunday. State College and other points of interest were also visited along their route.

Miss Lida Humphrey, who has been in this vicinity since the death and burial of her father, Thomas Humphrey, left on Friday for Butte, Montana, where she has been teaching school for a number of years past. Enroute she will stop at Chicago and visit a brother, Roy Humphrey, who is engaged in business in that city.

Charles Jackson and wife, residents of Washington, D. C., were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coolbroth, George street, over Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Jackson is employed in the engraving department of the Government printing office.

Willard Reed, wife and family, residents of Jefferson county, spent Sunday and several days of this week with V. M. Reed and family on North Pine street.

Mrs. Pennepacker, who formerly resided in Centre county, has moved some of her household effects to Curwensville and will make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Curtin, in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Ammerman, of Williamsport, motored to Curwensville on Saturday and spent several days with Mrs. Sarah Ammerman on South street, and also with several of his brothers and sisters.

A sort of double birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Riddle, in Pike township, not far from this place, Friday. The event was given in honor of the birthdays of George and Jonas Riddle. A large number of invited guests were present and spent a most enjoyable afternoon and evening at the home of the host and hostess.

The American Legion band went up to Olanta Saturday afternoon and enlivened the Rowles annual picnic with plenty of good and appropriate music.

The swinging bridge across the river opposite the big tannery has been in bad shape for a long time and unsafe for travel. Last week a subscription was taken up by the men who use the structure in passing to and from their work, and enough money procured to put the bridge in safe condition, which was done during the latter part of last week.

Misses Maud and Blanche Graham of Altoona were the guests of Mrs. Aggar Bloom at her Thompson street residence over Sunday. Both young ladies were former school teachers in our public schools.

Fred J. Dyer and his son-in-law Ed Hayes, left on Sunday in an automobile for New York City.

Miss Catherine Sykes, daughter of Superintendent J. W. Sykes, has returned home from an extended visit with friends at Hook Haven, Roaring Branch and other eastern towns.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Irvin left on Saturday in their automobile for Buffalo, where they will spend several days visiting the interesting sights and enjoying themselves generally.

John Carlisle and family motored from their home at Nant-y-Glo to Curwensville Sunday and spent the day with Mr. Carlisle's mother, Mrs. J. M. Carlisle.

Mr. and Mrs. Law Sykes, who live at Ridgeway, wheeled into town Sunday.

GIVE THE KIDDIES

LOTS OF MILK

They are about to start their school year and they will need all the stamina that you can give them to come thru the year with flying colors.

Their little bodies must be kept in the best of condition to keep pace with their growing brains and without the bodily strength the mental growth will not be as it should.

Give the kiddies all the Clearfield Milk they can drink and you'll see a great difference in their school work over last year. They will forge ahead of the undeveloped kiddies and bring home reports that are a credit to them as they should be.

John Pifer, our local diamond driller, is now engaged in boring holes in the ground on the Irvin tract in Penn township. The soil is being tested for coal, and should the owners find what they think they will, one of the largest and most profitable coal fields in the county will be opened.

The barn owned by Charlie Lord, between Anderson and High Streets, South Side, was entirely destroyed by fire about three o'clock Monday morning. A small garage, owned by a man named Dotts, was scorched, but an auto housed in the building was not injured to any extent.

The Boys' Marine band went up to Grampan yesterday and helped with the music in that town. The miners' local union took them up to lead them in the parade.

Messrs. Paul and Fred Evans and Russell Ames drove a car in from Warren, O., Saturday and spent several days in this town. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leathers at Naulton.

The stork flew over this community Sunday and left a daughter in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Clever, South Side. The family of Mr. and Mrs. Temaso were not missed either, a son being left in their care.

Walter Bennett had on exhibition at his home above Ridge avenue, on Monday, a live black snake which measured five feet eleven inches.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shearer and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Ammerman composed a party who motored to Niagara Falls Sunday. They will visit Buffalo and Rochester and other northern points on returning.

A small child of Harry Lucas fell through a sort of trap door from the first floor to the concrete cellar on Monday morning and sustained some severe and painful injuries, on head and face.

Misses Leonore Test and Lucy Brunetti, two Curwensville young ladies, left yesterday afternoon for Boardman, where each has been engaged to teach a winter term of school.

A beautiful baby daughter, who has been named for its maternal grandmother, Margaret Mudge, was born to Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Dukeman, Friday evening, Sept. 1st.

Miss Pearl Newton has gone to Pittsburgh, where she will follow her profession of school teaching. She will attend institute for a week before school opens.

Miss Margaret Love, of Osceola, has been the guest for a few days of Miss Geraldine Conaway and meeting her old chums here.

Bert Rohart has returned from Johnstown where he spent the summer working while visiting his sister.

Representing the Presbyterian S. S. Miss Merritt spent Tuesday and Wednesday at the County Convention in Mahaffey.

At the Sunday evening service in the Presbyterian church very interesting talks on the spiritual side of College life were ably given by the following students who are about to leave for different colleges: James Newton, Mudge, Hess and Thomas. Mrs. Thomas, a graduate of the university of Wisconsin, in a short address, gave some good advice to the students and in the name of the congregation bade them Godspeed. Hymns commonly used in college, were heartily sung.

Miss Isable Stafford, who unfortunately sustained a "painfully" cut foot when a porch swing dropped on it is slowly recovering and her many friends hope to see her around again soon.

It is a pleasing fact that Rev. Andrew Kish has been called to an important charge near Pittsburgh where he has now started on his new duties. His wife and three children who have spent the summer here with her mother Mrs. Lengen, will join him soon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lengen are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby daughter.

Miss Avoca Davis, bookkeeper for Central Trading Company, and Miss Mudge one of the obliging clerks of that store, who were off during the summer, have returned to work.

Ray Owens has resigned his position as manager of the Central Trading store.

Edgar Schaefer is at the U. S. government training camp at Camp Meade.

TRINITY CHURCH

EVENTS SUNDAY

Bible School excelled its record of attendance and offering, and had an attractive program for Missionary day, under direction of Henry B. Powell, Jr., Superintendent. Special music was prepared, both instrumental and vocal, a duet by Miss Eileen Smith and Miss Madeline Porter. The entire Primary department, Miss Carrie Powell in charge, present, taking exercises and songs. Masters William Leonardson and James Stevenson had individual parts, well rendered. Mrs. L. A. McDowell and Miss Carrie Powell gave suitable readings. This program emphasized the burden of missionary interest, prayer and help.

The music throughout the day was elaborate and inspiring, heard by many strangers in the regular congregations. I. Kister's cornet selection, accompanied by Mrs. Gallaher, was finely interpreted. The organ and piano duet was charming music, Miss Woodward and Mrs. Gallaher at the instruments. Ladies quartette and chorus, with some former members of the choir in the loft assisting, sang soulfully.

From Hebrews 2:11-18, with central thought—"made like unto his brethren," an exposition that reached head and heart, presented Jesus Christ in His Brotherhood. At night on Mark 6:1-3 the career of the Carpenter of Nazareth was presented not in an industrial sense but a personal viewpoint? The peril of following one occupation which tends to centralize both mind and heart, as well as skill, until one becomes narrow and stiff, was largely treated, for these are the days of specialization. The escape from this groove is by interest both mental and spiritual in the highest subjects that can engage the thought of man. Toil ceases then to have either drudgery or lavery. The worker does not become a tool or a machine. The machine is animated. The worker employs physical implements; but he thinks in the terms of the spiritual. He works on material substances, yet relates his labor to the moral. The training of this carpenter was at the workbench and in the village synagogue. Labor unrelated to the synagogue is crushing toil, unmoral, organized easily becomes despotic, savage. Like every aspiring artisan, he becomes a successful builder, not of edifice and institutions, but of individuals and integrity. From Him men learn the art of toil without being enslaved, the salutary relation of work to human good, the discipline of daily work and spiritual service.

NEW COLLEGE AYRSHIRE
GIFT OF MASONIC HOME

"Sir Robert Romona Bell" is the name of a junior yearling Ayrshire heifer that has recently taken up her abode in the dairy barn at the Pennsylvania State College. This young heifer, now gracing one of the stanchions that have been empty ever since tuberculosis swept through the college herd several years ago, came from the Masonic Home herd at Elizabethtown. Her donors in this way add their sanction to the movement on the part of Pennsylvania breeders to establish a representative herd of each of the major breeds at State College. The Masonic Home heifer is all the more appreciated by the School of Agriculture because she is the first Ayrshire female to be added to the college herd as a gift from a Pennsylvania breeder.

For First Party

As fashions go this season, it's likely to be a much beautified affair of georgette or chiffon in the pastel shades or white—that first party look. If trimmed at all, narrow two-toned ribbon is used. A laceau neckline and peasant sleeves make it quite a fashionable affair.

Miss Emma Whitehill has returned home after spending the summer with relatives in Texas.

Blanche Bronell, Eva Askey and Cordelia Shifter are spending the week end with relatives and friends in Grass Flat.

Cordelia Shifter entertained about 35 of her friends at the home of Mrs. Enas Shaw on Nichols street Friday evening. The evening was spent in games and dances. After the refreshments were served all departed for their home.

Nervous and Dizzy, Everything Seemed to Worry Me. How I Got Well

Larwill, Indiana.—"My back was so bad I could not do my washing. I was always tired out and had no ambition, was nervous and dizzy and everything seemed to worry me and I had awful pains in my right side. I felt badly about four years and could not do my work as it should have been done. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I bought it. I am feeling fine now and everyone tells me they never saw me looking so well. I live on a farm, do all my work, and have three little girls to take care of. I am recommending this medicine to my friends and know it will help them if they use it like I do." —Mrs. HERRERT LONG, R. R. 3, Box 7, Larwill, Indiana.

Many women keep about their work when it is a great effort. They are always tired out and have no ambition. When you are in this condition give it prompt attention. Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for it is especially adapted to correct such troubles, as it did for Mrs. Long.

For Your Child

25 per cent of the children who enter the public schools of the United States this Fall will have sub-normal Vision, which will retard their progress and engender in many a hatred for study.

A NECESSARY REQUIREMENT for school work is a pair of normal eyes, or a pair of eyes that are giving normal service with the aid of glasses. A child not so equipped is not apt to finish—or he may finish by using the Braille System.

OFFICERS SEARCH FOR DRIVER OF "MURDER CAR"

EXTENSION OF INJUNCTION CONSIDERED BY CABINET; GOMPERS PLANS ACTIVITY

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Extension of the Daugherty injunction so as to bring within its scope all persons who give aid in any form to the 400,000 striking shopmen was discussed by President Harding and his Cabinet today. Broadening of the injunction was urged by one Cabinet member as being necessary to silence members of non-striking unions who have continued to send messages of sympathy to the shopmen ever since the injunction was issued. Sharp differences of opinion prevailed between Cabinet members as to the extent to which the powers of the injunction should be increased. All were agreed, including the President, that caution would be necessary to avoid all undue interference with the rights of free speech and a free press.

GOMPERS ACTIVE
New York, Sept. 5.—A movement for a general strike of the American Federation of Labor in protest against the Daugherty injunction was started here today. Samuel Gompers, President of the Federation, will ask that a resolution be presented at a special meeting to follow a convention in New York to consider a general walk-out. The resolution was drawn up at a secret meeting of labor leaders held here yesterday. The New York Council of the Federation is the largest in the country, having a membership of 800,000 workers. Pledges of various locals of unions here today to aid the striking shop workers and to fight the injunction granted in Chicago to Attorney General Daugherty which prohibits leaders from conducting a strike total thousands of dollars. It was predicted that a hundred thousand dollar war chest will be raised this week.

Three Little Girls Are Auto Accident Victims Since Saturday Evening

Little girl pedestrians were the victims of no less than three accidents over the Labor Day holiday in this locality. In addition to the killing of little Miss Mary Haversock near the borough line here, the following accidents are reported to us by correspondents:

Two Woodland Girls Hit
An Oakland car with license tag No. 528-804 said to have been driven by a Clearfield man named Wilson and traveling toward Clearfield about 11 o'clock Sunday morning while near the H. & C. Ref. Co., Lower Works at Woodland, struck and knocked down two girls Tudy, daughter of Daniel Hull and Iona daughter of Alfred Biggleman, both of Mineal Springs.

The girls were returning home from Sunday School and were walking along on the right side of the road. A car was approaching from Clearfield and it is thought that the driver of the other car was watching it and evidently did not see the girls who were directly in front of his car until he was almost on them. He was running slowly and quickly applied the brakes but both girls were struck and Tudy was in some way doubled up in under the car. Iona was picked up unconscious and carried into a nearby home and a physician summoned who found upon examination that neither girl had any bones broken but both were badly bruised and scratched.

Osceola Child Hit By Car

BABY CLINIC AT EAST END
The Red Cross will conduct a baby clinic at the Spingola Store in the Fourth Ward tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. Every body is invited to bring their babies to this free clinic. Bring baby whether it is well or sick. You will get good advice.

"His Nibs" Will Look On From High Chair While Court Decides Paternity

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 5.—There will be a high chair in court when John P. Tiernan, Professor of Law of Notre Dame University appears today to accuse Harry Pollin of being the father of his wife's child. The high chair will hold "Exhibit A." "Exhibit A" will be the unnamed rosy checked nine months old son of Mrs. Tiernan, whose paternity is in question. It is said, very sad, that we must introduce the unfortunate child as evidence Tiernan said today but I shall have him there in court during every session. Tiernan plans to conduct the examination of Pollin himself. "I will cross examine this man who was my best friend," Tiernan said "I know him like a book."

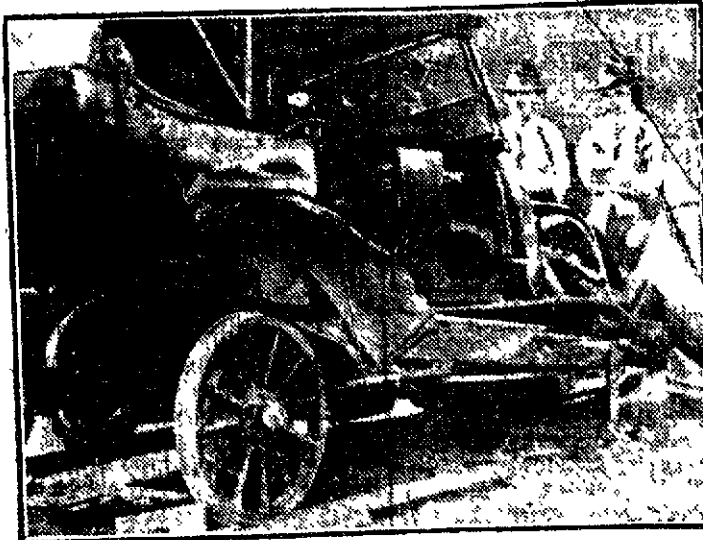

LEAGUE LAUNCHES DISARMAMENT PLAN FOR EVERY NATION

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 5.—The League of Nations today planned to launch a worldwide disarmament program. So strong is the disarmament sentiment among the nations attending the meeting here that these nations will start a non-aggressive policy that will change the scope of the Washington Arms Parley. The new plan will be presented to the League by Lord Robert Cecil and will include a world-wide disarmament plan and a non-aggressive pact. It will give each country a promise of security that will permit a reduction of armament. The plan fixes a military unit of 30,000 and then assigns to each nation the number of units it may maintain. When units are assigned the needs of defense and geographical position will be taken into consideration.

TARIFF WILL TAKE PRECEDENCE OVER THE BONUS MEASURE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—The Bonus Bill will not be reported to Congress by House and Senate conferees until the Tariff Bill is disposed of. Senator Smoot, of Utah, joined with four House conferees in blocking consideration of the Bonus, while Senators McCumber and Walsh reported the motion to displace the Tariff. This means the Tariff will be held continuously before the committee. No effort now can be made to work on the Bonus report until the Tariff is out of the way. The Tariff was held before the committee because of the encouraging speed with which the conferees had proceeded with the measure.

The Ordinance completing the annexation to the borough of the Clearfield Hospital was also presented and finally passed.

Increased Laborer's Wages
Some discussion of the wage rate for borough employees was had and it was unanimously decided to raise the hourly rate of street employees from 30 cents to 35 cents per hour to keep pace with the other employers of labor about town.

Sewer Work Being Rushed

JUSTICE CLARK HAS RESIGNED; WILL GO INTO LEAGUE WORK

Harding Announces His Intention To Appoint
Senator Sutherland To
Supreme Court Bench.

THEIR CAREERS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Resignation of Associate Justice John H. Clarke, from the United States Supreme court and the intention to appoint former Senator George H. Sutherland of Utah to succeed him was announced yesterday by President Harding. Justice Clarke's resignation will become effective September 18, when he reaches the age of 65 years.

A desire to serve his neighbors and some "causes" in ways which would not be possible while he was holding public office was given by Justice Clarke in a letter to the President as the impelling reason for his leaving the bench. A retirement from public life at 65, he added, would conform to his "philosophy of life."

Sutherland's Career
Sutherland is 60 years old. He was born in Buckingham, England, in 1862. He served Utah in the first state senate and was a delegate from that state to each Republican national convention from 1896 to 1920.

Sutherland twice was elected to the United States Senate, his service lasting from 1905 to 1917. He was defeated or re-election in 1916 by Senator King, the present junior member from Utah. Subsequently he was called upon by the present administration in an advisory capacity on several occasions, notably as a member of the advisory committee to the United States delegation to the arms conference. He recently represented the United States in negotiations with Norway dealing with war claims.

Clarke's Career
Justice Clarke was nominated to the supreme court bench by President Wilson in 1916 and in point of service is the junior associate justice. He was a life long Democrat and was associated in politics in Ohio with Tom Johnson and Newton D. Baker, secretary of war under President Wilson. His home is at Youngstown, from where he mailed his resignation. In 1903 he was defeated for the Senate by Marcus A. Hanna. In the campaign for the Democratic nomination

CITIZENRY INCENSED AT COWARDLY ACTION OF THE DRIVER WHO KILLED MARY HAVERSOCK, 16 YEAR OLD GIRL

Court Brings Haversock Killing Before Grand Jury With Instructions To Make Recommendations.

WITNESSES HEARD

When court opened this morning, Judge Bell summoned the Grand Jury before him and officially made known to them the facts of the killing of Miss Mary Haversock by a criminally careless automobile driver, stating that it was the opinion of himself and District Attorney Arnold that the Grand Jury should inquire into this case and make recommendation as to the course of action to be taken in an effort to apprehend the perpetrator of the deed. Judge Bell stated that there were no less than nineteen cases of violations of the motor laws of the State to come before the Grand Jury at this term and it appeared there was a disposition on the part of some people to deliberately violate the automobile laws of the State and it was time steps should be taken to make the highways in Clearfield county safe to travel. That Mary Haversock was of lowly station in life and her parents poor people, but that every assistance should be given in an effort to ferret out and run down the man who would ruthlessly ride down and kill a person and speed away without even offering to help.

Judge Bell then informed the Grand Jury that the District Attorney would present the facts in the case to them and would ask at their hands a recommendation covering the action to be taken in the case.

In pursuance of this investigation, J. D. Connelly of The Progress, Con Allen, B. I. Uncles, Gainer Bloom, Alex Hynd, Ralph Gulich and several other witnesses were called to testify as to their knowledge of the circumstances surrounding the tragedy.

Following the presentation of such facts as the District Attorney could secure, the Grand Jury determined to recommend that a reward of $1,000 be offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the driver of the car. This recommendation was heartily concurred in by Judge Bell and District Attorney Arnold and at once laid before the County Commissioners. The latter gentlemen and County Solicitor Woodward took up the matter and in a few moments took unanimous action toward carrying out the recommendation of the Grand Jury and formally and officially offered a reward of $1,000 for the purpose.

Every resource of the county authorities will be employed to run the murderer to earth, and as these efforts will be augmented by those of the State Police and Clearfield Borough officials, it is hoped the dastard can be run down and made to pay the extreme penalty for his crime.

PURCHASED VALUABLE LOT

The local lodge of Sons of Italy have purchased the lot on Daisy street adjoining the old Douglass hotel property from Thomas W. Bartratt and expect to erect a handsome two-story brick building on same, the first floor to be used for business purposes and the upper floor for lodge room and hall.

Mrs. E. A. Markel and daughter Madeline, of Snow Shoe, are spending several days in town with relatives.

MAN HUNT IS ON

Following the summoning of the Grand Jury by Judge Bell for the purpose of placing the murder of Mary Haversock before them and the presentation of the facts at hand surrounding the tragic affair, together with the meagre description of the "murder car" and its occupants by District Attorney Arnold, the Grand Jury very promptly recommended that the County authorities offer a reward of $1,000 for the apprehension of the driver of the car and the murderer of Mary Haversock.

When the recommendation was placed before the County Commissioners that body just as promptly directed that such reward be offered and, before noon today, the County and police authorities of every county in Central Pennsylvania was apprised of that fact and scores of men in every direction took up the man hunt. That they will be successful in their quest is the devout and heart-felt wish in the heart of every person familiar with the circumstances growing out of the wanton killing of this innocent little girl.

Drove On.

WAS DRIVING FAST

Mary Haversock, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Haversock, of Carbon Mine, was instantly killed between 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock Sunday evening last when struck by a fast-traveling automobile on the Clearfield-Curwensville State road just beyond the Clearfield borough line.

The Haversock girl, with her 14-year-old sister Agnes, and Mary Spisok, all employed as domestics in homes in that vicinity, had walked up the river and were on their return when the little girl's life was snuffed out in the twinkling of an eye and without warning of any kind.

The three girls, walking on the right hand side of the road coming toward town, had reached a point directly opposite the residence of Ralph Gulich.

E. G. Welliver, of Philadelphia, was driving up the river in his car and when nearing the Gulich residence he noticed a big car coming down toward Clearfield at a fast rate of speed. The car was traveling in the middle of the road and on Welliver's sounding his horn, the oncoming driver swerved his car to the right and dashed right into the girls along the side of the road.

Mary Haversock, who was slightly in the rear of her companions, was struck squarely in the back and hurled about 20 feet, landing in the ditch at the side of the road in a heap. Hearing the crash as the car struck their companion, Agnes Haversock called out, "Mary, where are you?" and with that she both heard and saw her sister's body land in a crumpled heap beside the road.

The noise of the impact of the car against the girl's body and the screams of her companions were heard by Alex Hynd at his residence some distance below the scene of the accident, and by Mr. and Mrs. Gulich and their daughter Catherine May, who were sitting on their rear porch. All hurried to the screaming girls and just as Mr. Hynd reached the terribly bruised and torn body of the innocent victim she breathed her last.

Dr. Ward O. Wilson was summoned by telephone and was quickly on the spot and pronounced the young woman beyond all earthly aid as quick as he saw her.

The body was picked up and placed in a blanket and carried to the Gulich lawn where it remained until taken in charge by Undertaker F. B. Leavy.

When he saw the car strike Miss Haversock, Mr. Welliver, who was traveling up the river, stopped his car and remained for some time, rendering every possible aid, but the driver of the "murder car" made an effort as though to stop but reconsidered and stepping on the gas disappeared rapidly down Second street.

Both Mr. Welliver and Mr. Hynd gave it as their opinion that there were at least four or possibly five people in the car, while Agnes Haversock says she was able to distinguish part of the license number as the car slowed up.

Chief of Police McMullen and Sheriff Lowell were notified of the occurrence and at once got busy in an attempt to locate the murderer. Chief McMullen immediately called the

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

What's the Matter With the Court House—It's Not All Right.

Dear Odds and Ends.—May we tell our little visit in the Court House? Missing by the other morning, it looked so cool and inviting we went through the corridor and up the stairs marvelling at the spotless cleanliness everywhere.

Seeing a door on which were the words, "Waiting Room for Women Prisoners," we looked in and were surprised at the home-like room with a softly tinted walls, its comfortable upholstered chairs and couch, a polished table with its books and papers, the clean shining windows and tiled floor. Especially lovely is the one oil painting hanging between the windows, the gift of a generous tithen with an understanding heart.

Such was the room as we saw it that morning, in which the tired, scared women witnesses can rest while sitting the ordeal of the court room. If you doubt us visit your court house and see for yourself.

We also had our first experience of waiting proceeding this morning, but is, as Kipling says, is another story.

Out of Town Visitor.

The churches of America raised during their last respective fiscal years at least a half billion dollars. Reports from the religious bodies gathered by the Federal Council of Churches and published in its year book of the churches give the exact figures as $488,424,084, but they do not tell the whole story. Owing to the various methods of gathering statistics in the different churches, some of the reports include only part of the amounts raised. Some, for instance report missionary offerings only. In many cases the figures represent a minimum.

Of the total raised, the combined Methodist bodies lead with $130,730,719. The Catholic church is second with $75,368,294. The combined Baptists are third with $60,796,534.

The standing of the leading denominations according to the official figures of each is:

Methodist Episcopal No.	$85,934,000
Catholic	75,368,294
Presbyterian (North)	47,036,442
Southern Baptist	34,881,032
Protestant Episcopal	34,873,221
Methodist Episcopal So.	33,859,832
Orthodox Baptist	21,926,143

Congregationalists 21,233,412

These figures show that each of the 46,242,130 church members of the country gives at least $10 a year to the support of his church and its work.

From the figures available the 1,104,029 members of the Protestant Episcopal church are the most generous of the larger communions, their average gift being $31.50 a year. The 397,058 members of the Presbyterian church in the United States (South) are second with a per capita gift of $30.54. Third place is held by the members of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America (North) with an annual gift of $27.31 each.

The Congregationalists give $25.92 each, while the Northern Methodists give $21.82 each. Other large communions according to the figures available give as follows: Northern Baptists, $17.48; members of the United Lutheran church in America, $14.75; Southern Methodists, $14.43, and Southern Baptists $10.90.

Full returns from some of the churches might change this standing considerably, but these figures are the best available from the facts obtainable.

The per capita gift of the Catholics of the country is $4.21, but that church includes in its membership "Catholic population" and most of the Protestant churches include only communicant members. A fair comparison on a common basis would show Catholics at $11.80 per capita.

Women voters proved a powerful factor in defeating prohibition in the referendum election in Norway, it was shown by tabulation of the ballot.

With twelve districts uncounted, the women's vote stands: For prohibition, 123,315; against prohibition, 182,876. Total majority, 59,561.

The total vote, with twelve districts missing, was for prohibition, 901,053; against prohibition, 930,655.

"The aeroplane of the future will be at once the most ghastly and sublime machine ever created by the hand of man."

This is the statement of M. Anthony Fokker, the celebrated Dutch aeroplane inventor, who is now in England securing designs and plans which he will use in his work in furthering military and commercial aviation in the United States.

Aeroplane services crossing the Atlantic five or six times a day, and aeroplanes capable of destroying entire cities in a few hours, are the predictions which Fokker makes.

"The aeroplane of the future depends almost entirely on motor and fuel development," Fokker says. "If this continues at the same rate of progress we shall very shortly have completely noiseless machines racing every twenty minutes as regularly as the modern train service in all directions.

"The actual size and speed of the machines will not increase so enormously as the numbers employed. Some 120 miles per hour, with a range of several hundreds of miles, will be the standard model for commercial purposes during the next ten years.

Why Vaccination Pays.
Statistics show that to vaccinate a person against smallpox at public expense costs about twenty-five cents, while the disease itself costs the public on an average about $50 per case.

PATROLMAN STUMBLES

OVER BODY IN SACK

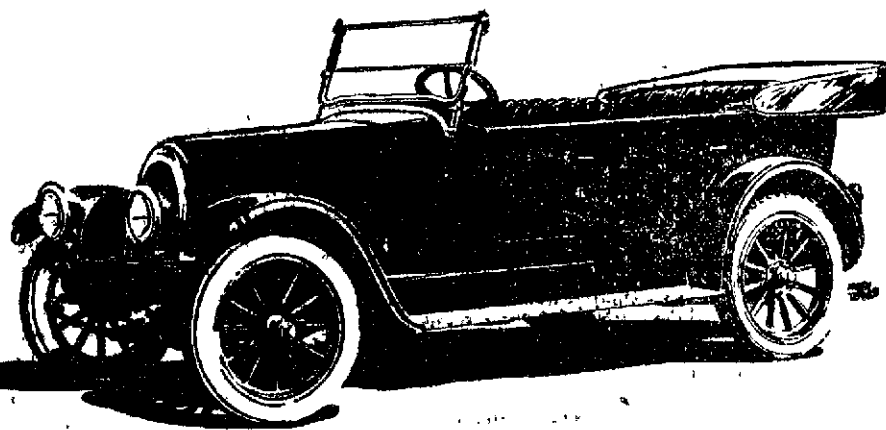

New York, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Brooklyn's "bloody block" was the scene of another mysterious tragedy early today. Patrolman Edward Conners, walking his beat, stumbled over a huddled mass on the sidewalk which was not visible in the darkness. Upon investigation he found the body of a man who was later identified as Con Melitte, tied up in a bed quilt with a .30-calibre bullet wound squarely between his shoulder blades.

As predicted not more than three weeks ago, another very serious accident has occurred on the state highway near here and we cannot help but believe that had the suggestions made by The Progress at that time been carried out, little Mary Overlock would today have been the carefree, happy girl she was instead of being cut off from all that life holds for an American youth.

It is now the proper thing to offer the one thousand dollars reward for the coward who would run away leaving a little girl bleeding and dying along the public road. No matter what his liability for the accident, had he stopped to render first aid and made a clean breast of the unfortunate affair, he could be given the consideration due a repentant wrongdoer. As it stands he has had ample time to come forward and acknowledge his wrong and has no right to ask for mercy.

The question to be decided now though, is whether we shall wait for another such outrage before taking those simple steps which will cut reckless driving down to a minimum. The observance of three practices will suffice to make our highways safe to travel on.

When walking on the public highway, keep on the left hand side. You are then facing the traffic and when you turn off the road you are in no danger of being struck from the rear.

When driving on the public highway use every precaution, do not exceed the legal rate of speed and make it your business to report to the county authorities any driver who is visibly intoxicated.

Urge that every party to an accident be required to appear before the district attorney in order that the blame may be placed in every instance. This, and this only, will cut down the accidents which have made our state highway from Philipsburg to Curwensville as dangerous as "No Man's Land."

ARE WOMEN NEEDED?

Women have been voting nationally for nearly three years. They have participated in the election of the President and the Congress and have shown keen interest in the lesser but still important contests for local offices in their immediate communities.

Just what benefits have been derived by the government as a result of practically doubling the nation's electorate?

Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, vice chairman of the Republican National Executive Committee, who has worked with both men and women in public affairs for many years, summed up the effect of women in politics when she said:

"The new woman voter is carrying out her political convictions with the same kind of courage with which the female protects her young. She knows what is right in her own soul and does not easily change her standards."

"Women are primarily interested and are deeply concerned in the effect which politics has on the future manhood and womanhood of this country."

"Women are interested in the conservation of life. They care for the things which affect their homes and their children."

Mrs. Upton voices the thoughts of men and women who have intelligently studied the results of women's participation in government.

Women carry the thought of what is best for the homes of the nation with them when they go to the polls. Consequently they are proving that they are a humanizing factor in politics.

THE ROMAN OF 1813

It was Commodore Perry who sent the thrilling message after the Battle of Lake Erie: "We have met the enemy and they are ours." The pulse of every true American beats faster at these words. For Perry's victory, against great odds, was one of the bravest and most remarkable exploits in naval history.

The battle took place on September 19th, 1813. But we must remember that not all the heroic work was done upon that day. As with so many historical events, examples of less striking devotion have been passed by, overshadowed by the greater event.

So it is fitting today to call attention to the career of Peter Navarre. A pioneer and scout born of French parents in Detroit, he it was who took the orders from General Harrison to Perry which precipitated the Battle of Lake Erie.

His task was difficult and called forth all the craft and hardhood of the true woodsman. Navarre knew the Indian well, and the British had set a price of a thousand dollars on his head. This did not daunt him. Ordered to deliver the message at a spot some eighty miles from General Harrison's camp, he set forth. The peril from the enemy was increased by a storm which broke over his head. Running by night, skily slipping from tree to tree in the daytime, he delivered the message.

A salute, the passage of an oilskin package from one hand to another, and Peter Navarre plunged again into the woods. It was his hand that later was to slay Tecumseh, the great Indian chief. Yet the old scout never was given proper reward by his government. He was content. He had had the opportunity to serve and save America, and that was enough for him. Peter Navarre died in poverty not many years ago, at the age of eighty-nine. One event shone forth in his memory to the last—the head delivered the message.

FOR HIM WHO WORKS

Jim Harbord, attending Kansas State Agricultural College, failed to win an appointment to West Point, so he made his way out to Spokane and enlisted in the Fourth Infantry. Private Harbord of 1889 is Major-General Harbord of 1922, and is to be chief of staff when General Pershing goes to inactive duty in another year.

His military career has been a distinguished one, filled with hard work. When he enlisted he studied his job, availed himself of the military colleges, won staff appointments, served here, there and everywhere in whatever capacity offered, but always went steadily up until he is now ready to step to the top rung of the ladder, the most enviable position in the American Army active list.

Inasmuch as popular conception gives the favored promotion in the armed services to West Point and Annapolis graduates this is a healthy thing for the country. Jim Harbords are conspicuous in other walks of American activity; opportunity usually comes from hard work and ninety per centum of the successful business men of your acquaintance made their own way from the bottom. That is the American tradition. Harbord carries it into the Army, with its pride of tradition, and shows the way to American boyhood. For him who works and uses his head reward in this land is limitless.

WISCONSIN PASSES ON LA FOLLETTE'S WAR RECORD TODAY

Witwaukee, Wis., Sept. 5.—Wisconsin Republicans passed judgement today on the war record of Senator Robert M. La Follette in the state primary. The voters will give their decision in the bitter battle waged by William Ganfield chiefly on the question of the Badger Senator's opposition to the war. Two complete Republican tickets were in the field. La Follette was opposed by John J. Blaine, who is a candidate for renomination. Ganfield, a college president had William J. Morgan, State Attorney General, as a running mate for the gubernatorial nomination.

ANNOUNCING A NEW NASH "SIX" FIVE PASSENGER SEDAN

Simultaneously with the opening of the Fall closed car season the Nash Motors Company announces a five-passenger six-cylinder sedan. The new model is being shipped to distributors and dealers as rapidly as production will permit.

"The new five-passenger six-cylinder sedan was produced in response to a widespread demand on the part of Nash dealers and the buying public for a car of this type," said C. B. Voorhis, vice-president and director of sales of The Nash Motors Company. "With this addition the Nash line now includes thirteen models, each meeting separate and distinct requirements. In the six-cylinder car line are now three enclosed cars—the new five-passenger sedan, the seven-passenger sedan, and the four-passenger coupe, while the four cylinder line includes four enclosed body types—the five-passenger sedan, the five-passenger car, three-passenger coupe, and two-passenger cab."

The new Six sedan for five passengers is built on the Nash 121-inch wheelbase chassis; its design and appearance are in keeping with that good taste which distinguishes all models of The Nash Motors Company. The car is hung low on a strong enduring chassis, yet with ample road clearance, and with its wonderful easy riding springs, it rides as buoyantly on country highways and crowded roads as in service about town.

The famous Nash Perfected-Valve-In-Head Motor is a guarantor of its faithful and continuous performance. Its mohair interior furnishing and upholstery is of the same choice quality used in the most expensive cars. Its four doors are wide and its seats are unusually comfortable.

Public demand which inspired the production of the new Nash Six five-passenger sedan is the direct result of the added comfort which an enclosed car affords the owner in all seasons. A few years ago the enclosed car was looked on as a luxury to be indulged in only by those who could afford two cars—one for winter and one for summer. Within the past few years, however, the enclosed type of car has become so widely accepted that increased production on the part of the manufacturer has made possible a narrow margin between the price of the open and closed vehicle.

In response to public demand the manufacturers also have made refinements in outward appearance and in the matter of comfort so that today the enclosed car offers the most in comfort as well as in economy to the buyer.

Pennsy Will Be Asked To Explain Why Men Were Put In Danger

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 5.—Coroner W. J. McGregor and late and county officials today visited the ruins of the Thirtieth Street Round House of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which was destroyed by fire early Sunday, causing seven deaths. McGregor directed the Pennsylvania Railroad to produce the man whose duty it was to inspect buildings used in housing employees. McGregor said he learned that highly inflammable materials had been stored in the building where the men slept. The inquest is scheduled to be held Friday.

PLAN GREATER JUNIOR CHAUTAUQUA ACTIVITIES DURING NEXT SEASON

With popular interest in all phases of child training at its height because of the opening of the schools throughout the nation this week, the Chautauqua Managers' Association of America and Canada has just announced, through its appointed committee Dr. Paul M. Pearson of Swarthmore, Pa., Mr. A. C. Coit, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mr. Loring Whiteside of New Haven, Conn., a notable plan for a National Junior Chautauqua Organization.

Junior Chautauqua work has grown to such an extent that the various Chautauqua managers, who, as a part of their Chautauqua service during the past decade have been bringing supervised play and elementary training in social service and civic government to the children of "Main Street" have secured the services of an Advisory Committee of four of the best known authorities in the country on young people's development, to coordinate the work into a national unit and map out a comprehensive plan for a period of years. This Advisory Committee consists of:

Dr. Omer R. Lovejoy, General Secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, Washington, D. C.
Dr. S. Josephine Baker, Director Bureau Child Hygiene, Department of Health, New York City.
Dr. Elbert K. Protwell, Professor of Recreation, Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City.
O. H. Benson, Director Junior Achievement Bureau, Eastern States League, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

The Junior Chautauqua enrollment now numbers 1,000,000 boys and girls between the ages of six and fourteen. Its activities are conducted in connection with the regular Chautauqua program now held in 9,000 towns in every state in the United States, and reaching 10,000,000 people annually.

The Junior Chautauqua activities are especially planned for the children of the smaller towns and cities. The week's Junior program includes games, stories, and pageantry under the direction of a trained leader. It is a "recreational oasis" in the child life of the town. The Junior citizens are organized into a miniature municipal and elect their Mayor, Town Clerk and Law Making Commissioners. During the week the activities of "Junior Town" are directed in a Chautauqua manner by the duly elect officials. As a part of their "Junior community" work the small citizens carry out in each town some kind of community service. Swimming pool funds are started, hospital beds endowed, poor children helped. But the training in service is the main objective.

The Directors of the children's work in the various Chautauqua systems of the country, met recently in Chicago and organized the National Association of Junior Chautauqua Directors. Miss Ida M. Joseph of the Ellison-White Chautauqua of Portland, Oregon was chosen President, and Miss Mary L. Flynn, of the Swarthmore Chautauqua, Swarthmore, Pa., was elected Secretary. At this meeting it was decided to use on Chautauqua circuits, the prize pageant "Conquests of Peace." The author of the winning pageant is Miss Mabel Wain, a Senior in Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa.

Dr. Paul M. Pearson, Chairman of the Managers' Committee on the National Junior Chautauqua, and also President of the International League and Chautauqua Association, voices the importance which the Chautauqua managers attach to this educational and recreational work with the children of the smaller communities by saying: "Chautauqua managers consider no phase of their work more important than the work with the children. This new plan for a National Junior Chautauqua Organization is a permanent investment in the town, which will make all work more enduring and which, if properly directed and handled, bids fair to take its place as one of the potent present-day factors in the proper direction of the physical, mental and social activities of our young people."

Already one of the most widely used songs in schools, playgrounds and community centers is the "Town Song" written especially for Junior Chautauqua. Its refrain runs: I am proud of my town, I am proud of my town, and this is the heart of the message which the National Director of Junior Chautauqua who is to be appointed for 1923, will carry to the Chautauqua towns. No longer are statesmen to be merely "burnt," here is a definite attempt to "make" them.

with the officers and committee dispatched autos for the American Legion Band of Joshua Earl Super Post No. 505 of Curwensville, Pa., of 30 pieces and had them quickly on the ground. At 1:30 p. m. they gave the large crowd a fine musical program.

Meeting was called to order by Pres. Alex Rowles, who announced the opening prayer by Rev. Hauser speakers was as follows: Hon. Singleton Bell, W. I. Betts, J. Frank Snyder, A. R. Chase, Rev. A. Roy Hauser, who came from his vacation in Maryland to be present; Rev. Swank of New Milford; Joseph E. Phillips, who gave some reminiscences of old Rowles settlers; W. A. Hagerly also told of the old stock of early settlers and John M. Chase. The speaking was interspersed with selections from the band.

Officers and committee held meeting, choosing officers and committee for reunion of Sept. 1st 1923, as follows: Pres. A. M. Rowles; Vice Pres. McClellan Rowles; Sec., C. L. V. Rowles Treas., Job Rowles; Executive Committee: P. S. Rowles, John M. Bauman, James M. Rowles, Aaron B. Rowles, E. Price Rowles. Total collections amounted to about $65.00. Expenses $60.

At 4 p. m. the band gave another concert which was appreciated by the large crowd present, which by this time was taxing the grove to hold the crowd. At 5:15 supper was announced for the band who enjoyed the good things prepared for them. At 6 p. m. the band was returned to their homes by autos, provided for them by Alex, Job, Howard, E. Price and Eli Rowles M. L. Farrell and Paul Shaffner.

Everybody voted it a good old fashioned reunion and hoped to be with us at next year's Reunion. A good many were disappointed at the absence of Col. Fred Kerr, who was detained at Harrisburg. The two oldest Rowles in attendance were Sarah Ann Rowles, 87 years; Matthew Rowles, 78 years.

We hope to see you all present at our Annual Reunion on Saturday, Sept. 1st, 1923.

Doctors and Drugs. A large number of physicians are themselves addicted to the use of morphine. This is no wonder, considering the strenuous life they lead, and the fact that they are continually handling the drug. Conscientious physicians have for some time past refused to administer it, but then, what was the use, while there were so many others willing to do so?

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

Mrs. Mary Manes, who resides at Morgantown, W. Va., and who spent several weeks visiting with her sister, Mrs. W. A. Muri, left for her home last Friday.

Curwensville's football squad has secured the services of James Black, of Olanta as coach. He is conversant with all of the cuts and ins of the game, and as the members of the squad are apt pupils and practicing every evening when the weather permits, will soon be in shape for games with teams from neighboring towns.

The call for a ladies' meeting at the Red Cross rooms last Friday evening for the purpose of organizing a Civic Club was not attended as it should have been. The few who did gather were deeply interested in movement of this kind and are not at all discouraged because there was not a good turnout. Another call has been sent out for a meeting to be held on the 11th inst., at which time it is to be hoped that enough ladies will be present to effect a permanent organization and elect the necessary officers.

Frank Hailey and wife, Ridge avenue, went to Warren, O., the latter part of last week to visit with relatives and old time Curwensville acquaintances who are located in that city, returned home on Monday.

Mrs. Alton Robacker, a life-long resident of Penfield, is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stiver near the tannery.

An employee of the Pennsylvania Hide and Leather Company informed the correspondent Monday that a raise of wages had been granted to the employees of that plant. The advance runs from 85 cents and down in proportion to the work the men are engaged in. Owing to the shortage of men since the mines started up the output at this industry has been cut down almost one half, but just as soon as a sufficient number of men can be secured to fill the jobs made vacant by those who quit to go else where, the output will be again run up to the number of sides as before.

Messrs. Ray Hile and Lester Whitaker and the Misses Annie Johnston and Pearl Rafferty made a motor trip to Penns Cave last Sunday. State College and other points of interest were also visited along their route.

Miss Lida Humphrey, who has been in this vicinity since the death and burial of her father, Thomas Humphrey, left on Friday for Butte, Montana, where she has been teaching school for a number of years past. Enroute she will stop at Chicago and visit a brother, Roy Humphrey, who is engaged in business in that city.

Charles Jackson and wife, residents of Washington, D. C., were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coolbroth, George street, over Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Jackson is employed in the engraving department of the Government printing office.

Willard Reed, wife and family, residents of Jefferson county, spent Sunday and several days of this week with V. M. Reed and family on North Pine street.

Mrs. Pennepacker, who formerly resided in Centre county, has moved some of her household effects to Curwensville and will make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Curtin, in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Ammerman, of Williamsport, motored to Curwensville on Saturday and spent several days with Mrs. Sarah Ammerman on South street, and also with several of his brothers and sisters.

A sort of double birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Riddle, in Pike township, not far from this place, Friday. The event was given in honor of the birthdays of George and Jonas Riddle. A large number of invited guests were present and spent a most enjoyable afternoon and evening at the home of the host and hostess.

The American Legion band went up to Olanta Saturday afternoon and enlivened the Rowles annual picnic with plenty of good and appropriate music.

The swinging bridge across the river opposite the big tannery has been in bad shape for a long time and unsafe for travel. Last week a subscription was taken up by the men who use the structure in passing to and from their work, and enough money procured to put the bridge in safe condition, which was done during the latter part of last week.

Misses Maud and Blanche Graham of Altoona were the guests of Mrs. Aggar Bloom at her Thompson street residence over Sunday. Both young ladies were former school teachers in our public schools.

Fred J. Dyer and his son-in-law Ed Hayes, left on Sunday in an automobile for New York City.

Miss Catherine Sykes, daughter of Superintendent J. W. Sykes, has returned home from an extended visit with friends at Hook Haven, Roaring Branch and other eastern towns.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Irvin left on Saturday in their automobile for Buffalo, where they will spend several days visiting the interesting sights and enjoying themselves generally.

John Carlisle and family motored from their home at Nant-y-Glo to Curwensville Sunday and spent the day with Mr. Carlisle's mother, Mrs. J. M. Carlisle.

Mr. and Mrs. Law Sykes, who live at Ridgeway, wheeled into town Sunday.

GIVE THE KIDDIES

LOTS OF MILK

They are about to start their school year and they will need all the stamina that you can give them to come thru the year with flying colors.

Their little bodies must be kept in the best of condition to keep pace with their growing brains and without the bodily strength the mental growth will not be as it should.

Give the kiddies all the Clearfield Milk they can drink and you'll see a great difference in their school work over last year. They will forge ahead of the undeveloped kiddies and bring home reports that are a credit to them as they should be.

The barn owned by Charlie Lord, between Anderson and High Streets, South Side, was entirely destroyed by fire about three o'clock Monday morning. A small garage, owned by a man named Dotts, was scorched, but an auto housed in the building was not injured to any extent.

The Boys' Marine band went up to Grampan yesterday and helped with the music in that town. The miners' local union took them up to lead them in the parade.

Messrs. Paul and Fred Evans and Russell Ames drove a car in from Warren, O., Saturday and spent several days in this town. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leathers at Naulton.

The stork flew over this community Sunday and left a daughter in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Clever, South Side. The family of Mr. and Mrs. Temaso were not missed either, a son being left in their care.

Walter Bennett had on exhibition at his home above Ridge avenue, on Monday, a live black snake which measured five feet eleven inches.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shearer and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Ammerman composed a party who motored to Niagara Falls Sunday. They will visit Buffalo and Rochester and other northern points on returning.

A small child of Harry Lucas fell through a sort of trap door from the first floor to the concrete cellar on Monday morning and sustained some severe and painful injuries, on head and face.

Misses Leonore Test and Lucy Brunetti, two Curwensville young ladies, left yesterday afternoon for Boardman, where each has been engaged to teach a winter term of school.

A beautiful baby daughter, who has been named for its maternal grandmother, Margaret Mudge, was born to Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Dukeman, Friday evening, Sept. 1st.

Miss Pearl Newton has gone to Pittsburgh, where she will follow her profession of school teaching. She will attend institute for a week before school opens.

Miss Margaret Love, of Osceola, has been the guest for a few days of Miss Geraldine Conaway and meeting her old chums here.

Bert Rohart has returned from Johnstown where he spent the summer working while visiting his sister.

Representing the Presbyterian S. S. Miss Merritt spent Tuesday and Wednesday at the County Convention in Mahaffey.

At the Sunday evening service in the Presbyterian church very interesting talks on the spiritual side of College life were ably given by the following students who are about to leave for different colleges: James Newton, Mudge, Hess and Thomas. Mrs. Thomas, a graduate of the university of Wisconsin, in a short address, gave some good advice to the students and in the name of the congregation bade them Godspeed. Hymns commonly used in college, were heartily sung.

Miss Isable Stafford, who unfortunately sustained a "painfully" cut foot when a porch swing dropped on it is slowly recovering and her many friends hope to see her around again soon.

It is a pleasing fact that Rev. Andrew Kish has been called to an important charge near Pittsburgh where he has now started on his new duties. His wife and three children who have spent the summer here with her mother Mrs. Lengen, will join him soon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lengen are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby daughter.

Ray Owens has resigned his position as manager of the Central Trading store.

Edgar Schaefer is at the U. S. government training camp at Camp Meade.

TRINITY CHURCH

EVENTS SUNDAY

Bible School excelled its record of attendance and offering, and had an attractive program for Missionary day, under direction of Henry B. Powell, Jr., Superintendent. Special music was prepared, both instrumental and vocal, a duet by Miss Eileen Smith and Miss Madeline Porter. The entire Primary department, Miss Carrie Powell in charge, present, taking exercises and songs. Masters William Leonardson and James Stevenson had individual parts, well rendered. Mrs. L. A. McDowell and Miss Carrie Powell gave suitable readings. This program emphasized the burden of missionary interest, prayer and help.

The music throughout the day was elaborate and inspiring, heard by many strangers in the regular congregations. I. Kister's cornet selection, accompanied by Mrs. Gallaher, was finely interpreted. The organ and piano duet was charming music, Miss Woodward and Mrs. Gallaher at the instruments. Ladies quartette and chorus, with some former members of the choir in the loft assisting, sang soulfully.

From Hebrews 2:11-18, with central thought—"made like unto his brethren," an exposition that reached head and heart, presented Jesus Christ in His Brotherhood. At night on Mark 6:1-3 the career of the Carpenter of Nazareth was presented not in an industrial sense but a personal viewpoint? The peril of following one occupation which tends to centralize both mind and heart, as well as skill, until one becomes narrow and stiff, was largely treated, for these are the days of specialization. The escape from this groove is by interest both mental and spiritual in the highest subjects that can engage the thought of man. Toil ceases then to have either drudgery or lavery. The worker does not become a tool or a machine. The machine is animated. The worker employs physical implements; but he thinks in the terms of the spiritual. He works on material substances, yet relates his labor to the moral. The training of this carpenter was at the workbench and in the village synagogue. Labor unrelated to the synagogue is crushing toil, unmoral, organized easily becomes despotic, savage. Like every aspiring artisan, he becomes a successful builder, not of edifice and institutions, but of individuals and integrity. From Him men learn the art of toil without being enslaved, the salutary relation of work to human good, the discipline of daily work and spiritual service.

NEW COLLEGE AYRSHIRE
GIFT OF MASONIC HOME

"Sir Robert Romona Bell" is the name of a junior yearling Ayrshire heifer that has recently taken up her abode in the dairy barn at the Pennsylvania State College. This young heifer, now gracing one of the stanchions that have been empty ever since tuberculosis swept through the college herd several years ago, came from the Masonic Home herd at Elizabethtown. Her donors in this way add their sanction to the movement on the part of Pennsylvania breeders to establish a representative herd of each of the major breeds at State College. The Masonic Home heifer is all the more appreciated by the School of Agriculture because she is the first Ayrshire female to be added to the college herd as a gift from a Pennsylvania breeder.

For First Party

As fashions go this season, it's likely to be a much beautified affair of georgette or chiffon in the pastel shades or white—that first party look. If trimmed at all, narrow two-toned ribbon is used. A laceau neckline and peasant sleeves make it quite a fashionable affair.

Miss Emma Whitehill has returned home after spending the summer with relatives in Texas.

Blanche Bronell, Eva Askey and Cordelia Shifter are spending the week end with relatives and friends in Grass Flat.

Cordelia Shifter entertained about 35 of her friends at the home of Mrs. Enas Shaw on Nichols street Friday evening. The evening was spent in games and dances. After the refreshments were served all departed for their home.

Nervous and Dizzy, Everything Seemed to Worry Me. How I Got Well

Larwill, Indiana.—"My back was so bad I could not do my washing. I was always tired out and had no ambition, was nervous and dizzy and everything seemed to worry me and I had awful pains in my right side. I felt badly about four years and could not do my work as it should have been done. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I bought it. I am feeling fine now and everyone tells me they never saw me looking so well. I live on a farm, do all my work, and have three little girls to take care of. I am recommending this medicine to my friends and know it will help them if they use it like I do." —Mrs. HERRERT LONG, R. R. 3, Box 7, Larwill, Indiana.

Many women keep about their work when it is a great effort. They are always tired out and have no ambition. When you are in this condition give it prompt attention. Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for it is especially adapted to correct such troubles, as it did for Mrs. Long.

For Your Child

25 per cent of the children who enter the public schools of the United States this Fall will have sub-normal Vision, which will retard their progress and engender in many a hatred for study.

A NECESSARY REQUIREMENT for school work is a pair of normal eyes, or a pair of eyes that are giving normal service with the aid of glasses. A child not so equipped is not apt to finish—or he may finish by using the Braille System.
